AWARD GIRL $800 FOR INJURY TO EYE DUE TO ACCIDENT

Suit Was Originally Entered
For $1300 But Settlement
Was Made for $800

BRISTOL HUSBAND SUED

Suit is Entered by Langhorne
Man in Claim for $2,000

DOYLESTOWN, May 16—An Ivyland girl was given $800 for an eye injury sustained in an automobile accident.

Following an action in trespass in which the minor plaintiff and her parents claimed the sum of $1300, a settlement for $800 was authorized by President Judge Hiram H. Keller in the case of Anita May Hobensack and her parents, George S. Hobensack, Sr., and Marian S. Hobensack versus George S. Hobensack, Jr., and William Hobensack's Sons, all of Ivyland.

The minor plaintiff is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Hobensack, Sr., and was riding in a car with her brother, George, Jr., on the Jacksonville Road, near Ivyland, November 1, when it collided with a car driven by John L. Texany. The car was owned by William Hobensack's Sons and driven by her brother.

Miss Hobensack, who suffered numerous injuries, received a punctured eyeball and her parents allege they expended $800 for medical and hospital treatments.

Claiming damages of $2,000, Harry Simons, Langhorne, has named D. K. Applestein, 1544 Brunswick avenue, Trenton, N. J., the defendant in an action in trespass. The Langhorne motorist avers, in a statement of claim filed in the office of Prothonotary Ezra Miller, that his car was parked in Langhorne April 16, when he was inspecting the hood and radiator and standing in front of his car when the defendant backed his car against him crushing his left leg between the bumpers.

POLICE GIVE RECORD

Arrested for allegedly attacking two small school girls and a teacher, James Persichillo, 29, is being held in Trenton, N. J., and is scheduled to be arraigned in Trenton police court today. According to the Trenton police, Persichillo was formerly a resident of Bristol. Bristol police claim that Persichillo was arrested here for throwing a stone through one of the display windows of Louis Dries' furniture store, Mill and Pond streets, several years ago.

Persichillo was caught in Trenton, Wednesday, after a brief chase, after he had allegedly attacked Mrs. Anna Kerr, 50, teacher at the Columbus school in that city, and the two small girls.

Persichillo, according to Trenton police, entered the school at Wednesday noon hour and asked the two girls, one nine years old and the other 11, to be directed to the basement. They

Charge Roosevelt "Sowing Crop of Dragon's Teeth"

Berlin, May 16—Charges that President Roosevelt is "sowing a crop of dragon's teeth" by his appeal to France and seizure of French ships were made in Berlin today.

At the same time, authentic quarters predicted rapid Axis developments involving Soviet Russia, France and Turkey which will take place so swiftly that the American President won't have time to catch his breath.

Official quarters made no comment on London reports that German planes and fliers had entered Syria on the way to assist Iraq against Great Britain. But one observer said:

"If any foreign powers have been given the privilege of stop-overs and military facilities in Syria, it can only be said that President took the initiative in condoning such procedure."

"It must be recalled that the British battleship Malaya was accorded repair and dock facilities in the United States. Such a procedure is a matter of months. On the other hand, it takes only a few minutes to land and refuel a plane."

All reports concerning alleged Luftwaffe activities in Syria were barred from official discussion on the grounds they fall within the category of military information.

The Wilhelmstrasse would not confirm that formal diplomatic relations have been established between Germany and the anti-British Iraqi regime of Premier Gailani.

QUAKERTOWN AUTHORITY BUYS WATER COMPANY

Bonds Are Sold At Low Rate of Interest and Premium

REVENUE - FINANCED

QUAKERTOWN, May 14—The $320,000 worth of water company bonds for the borough were snapped up by Blyth & Co., Inc., and Bun & Co., for $321,033.60 and at a rate of interest that indicates the high estimate of the borough's credit rating and financial condition. They took $56,000 worth of the bonds at two per cent. up to and including those maturing in 1956, and the balance at 2 1/2 per cent interest per annum.

Bonds maturing after 1956 are callable at the option of the Authority on May 1, 1956, or any interest paying date thereafter in the inverse order of their maturity upon payment of the principal and accrued interest thereon, together with a premium of three per cent of the principal thereof.

Bids were received by Strout & Co., Inc., C. C. Collings & Co., Barclay, Moore & Co., Graham, Parsons & Co., and E. H. Rollins & Sons, Inc. These bids ranged from 2 1/2 per cent to three percent. The sealed bids were opened in the offices of the borough solicitor, Attorney Gordon H. Luckenbill, before the Quakertown Authority, consisting of Charles H. Ort, attorney; E. Howard Strawn, Adin Nicholas, Dr. LeRoy Hillebrand and Harry Benner.

The Authority is the go-between to transfer the water system from the water company to the borough and will execute a lease to the Borough of Quakertown providing for the operation and payment by the borough of the water system solely out of water revenues received by the borough of a fixed annual rental. The lease provides that payments by the borough will be sufficient not only to cover the payments by the borough but also the annual requirements for principal and interest on the bonds. A sinking fund of $18,000 is also provided and under the present State law the Authority will not pay any taxes or assessments upon the property.

The operating schedule of the water company shows yearly averages of about $28,000 from the water rates and that the operating costs were about $21,000, but under the operation by the Borough Authority the cost would be only about $11,000, a large saving being secured through extra operation, maintenance, office expenses and the taxes that would be saved.

The borough plans to take over the company this month and to be operating it June 1st.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Self-Nullification

Washington, May 15. THE strange persistence with which this Administration nullifies its own policies and frustrates its own purposes is perhaps the most fundamentally appalling fact about the whole present situation.

When the history of this period is finally written, the extraordinary manner in which the earnest and solemn appeals of the President were nullified, either by his own inertia or by actual moves made by him in the opposition direction, must stand out as the most difficult of all things to reconcile with reason.

whelming drama of events abroad and the imminence of more active American participation in the war. But that does not lessen the national peril involved in the fact that the normal activities of Government are almost out of control and that the great pressure groups, which have constituted the principal political reliance of the New Deal, so far from responding to the Presidential insistence that we all must make "sacrifices," are calculatingly using the crisis to seize more money for themselves. Nor are they in the least deterred by the obvious sabotaging of the defense program linked with their wholly selfish schemes.

FEW will dispute that this is an accurate description of the labor-leader policy behind the defense-plant strikes. It applies with almost equal force to the present drive—now on the verge of complete success—of the farm leaders to put through Congress the biggest farm grab in all history.

With Mrs. Donald Lomas, of Philadelphia, as the scheduled speaker, a group of 220 mothers and daughters filled the banquet hall of Bristol Presbyterian Church last evening for the annual mother and daughter banquet.

Men of the church served the following menu: Tomato juice, roast turkey, dressing, mashed potatoes, peas, celery, olives, cranberries, hot rolls, ice cream, cookies, coffee, mints.

SCARCITY OF HOUSES IMPEDES DEFENSE WORK

Robert W. Ayer, of Fleetwings, Sketches Growth of Aircraft Industry

NEED 2500 WORKERS

Stating that a housing shortage is impeding defense industry in this area, Robert W. Ayer, Assistant to the President of Fleetwings, Inc., said today that an additional 10,000 aircraft workers would be needed in this area within the next year, one-fourth of which would be needed by the Fleetwings organization alone. "Short-sighted home owners and other factions are blocking an adequate housing program," he contended.

Stating that "the town which fails to respond to this expansion opportunity is handicapping its future," the speaker commented on the great post war potential of the aviation industry.

As markets to war built facilities in operation, Ayer mentioned that there were indications the government would maintain a large standing air force even after the present emergency, and in addition embark on an extensive aircraft program to stimulate private flying. Among other post-war markets for aircraft Ayer mentioned the tremendous expansion which our domestic airlines will experience. He said that especially significant would be the development of local service for air-mail and express pick-up. "An additional stimulant will be the great over ocean routes to South America and all parts of the world in which this country will lead."

Commenting on the war, Ayer predicted that present increasing aircraft production gave every hope that "with our help" the British would win. He revealed that possible U. S. monthly production of military aircraft will, in two months, equal that of the British and the Germans. Combining this production with that of the British, of course, means increasingly harder going for the Axis powers.

Sketching the development of the aviation industry to make this production possible, Ayer emphasized that before they were sure of any help from the government the industry had invested $50,000,000 on plant facilities without hope of reimbursement, although they knew that only $10,000,000 facilities would be needed in peacetime.

Other highlights of Ayer's talk were his explanation of the part that the auto industry is now playing in the production of aircraft. He pointed out that the necessary facilities for production of 1,000 planes per day would cover half the area of the City of Detroit and would more than double its population. He said, however, that in their present role the automotive industry was contributing greatly to the aircraft defense program and that the aviation industry welcomed automotive production experience in its war efforts.

In closing, Ayer pointed out the danger of present Axis airline operations in South America and warned that we must safeguard this potentially great market.

Ayer, former technical expert for the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce and the government's Bureau of Air Commerce, is well known in Detroit and Washington industry circles.

LEGION AUXILIARY MEMBERS ASSEMBLE FROM TWO COUNTIES

Montgomery and Bucks Units
Are Guests of Bracken
Post Auxiliary

TALK ON DIABETES

Abington Hospital Physician
And Bristol Teacher Are
Speakers of Day

A group of nearly 175 members of the American Legion Auxiliary, including 23 Gold Star mothers, gathered from 19 units yesterday for the monthly luncheon-session of Montgomery-Bucks Council of American Legion Auxiliaries. The Auxiliary of Robert W. Bracken Post was hostess on this occasion, with two addresses being delivered during the afternoon program in Bristol Methodist Church.

Mrs. Melvin James, of Gwynedd, president of the council, was the presiding officer, she welcoming members from the following units: Conshohocken, Ambler, Fort Washington, Perkasie, Bala-Cynwyd, Willow Grove, Lansdale, Yeadon, Langhorne, Ardmore, North Wales, Doylestown, Pottstown, Morrisville, Souderton, Sellersville, Collegeville, Bristol, Norristown.

The speakers on this occasion were Miss Marjorie E. Peck, a member of the faculty of Bristol public schools; and Dr. T. A. Henderson, of Ambler, a member of the staff of Abington Hospital.

Miss Peck, who spoke on "Colonial American History," was introduced by Mrs. Benjamin Lesseig, a member of the local Auxiliary. Miss Peck prefaced her informative talk by stating that colonial American life is in reality a chapter in the history of Europe, she then telling how the people and their cultural influences were transplanted to the new world. The adaptation to the new environment was dwelt upon in a most interesting manner, and the address included references to many individuals prominent in the early history of this country—their hardships, trials and problems and joys, experienced both during the ocean journey, and after colonization being presented.

The speaker told of the three prime reasons why various groups set up colonies on these shores, listing them as the three "G's," God, Glory and Gold. The founding in 1607 of the first permanent settlement of the new world, Jamestown, provided an interesting story, the sad part of the story of the early settlers being that dealing with their privations and loss of lives through disease and at the hands of the Indians. The consignments of maidens from Europe to provide wives for the many bachelors of Jamestown and other colonies was told of, this being followed by items on the "Petticoat Rebellion," the name given to one of the unsuccessful matrimonial adventures. "While Virginia was founded as a business enterprise, the second colony founded, that in Massachusetts, had a religious significance," stated Miss Peck.

"The third section of colonization had its nucleus in this section—Penn's colony," added the teacher, who continued by telling of the ambition, fervor, tact, and far-sightedness of William Penn, with his great undertaking here being termed by him "The Holy Experiment." How little the then King of England realized the value of the great gift of Penn's woods was mentioned. The speaker reminded the women of the great growth of this colony, due to Penn's friendly policy with the Indians, which policy was not continued by his son. Miss Peck mentioned the restoration of Pennsylvania in Bucks County—"a dream come true." Other information presented dealt with the part which women played in the colonization; the early modes of transportation, education's growth, witchcraft, etc.

Dr. Henderson presented for the enlightenment of the gathering, information on diabetes. Introduced by Mrs. Minerva Epstein, health educator of the Division of Health Education, Pennsylvania Department of Health, Dr. Henderson gave to the women answers to many questions regarding diabetes. In formation presented was that it is a disease of the pancreas, a large gland located behind the stomach. "When this gland fails to produce enough of a substance called insulin, diabetes results," he informed. The signs and symptoms noted in a diabetic in the early stages were told of, the individual's kidneys working excessively to rid themselves of the great amount of sugar. Should there be any suspicion of such disease, the women

HAVOC IN ACTION

News from London indicating that American-made planes are contributing importantly to efforts to solve the night raid problem is heartening. It means that the craft are there in sufficient quantity to count and that they are of a quality to be employed in the most trying conditions of aerial warfare.

Britain solved the problem of daytime raids last fall, at least sufficiently to force Hitler to virtually abandon them. But the Nazis turned then to night raids and increased use of incendiaries. Although there is said to be a defense against almost every possible kind of offense, it takes time to develop it.

In the case of the night raids, the people of Britain were subjected to a rain of terror from the air which would have broken a less sturdy race. Their homes were blasted and burned, industrial centers and important ports felt the full force of the Luftwaffe, and casualties mounted. Still the people stood resolute, waiting for engineering skill to devise adequate defensive weapons and for industry to produce them.

Perhaps they hoped something would come from a capable friend overseas. Something did come. It was the American Douglas DB7, which the British rechristened Havoc. It and Britain's new night fighter, the Beaufort, are now giving excellent accounts of themselves.

London dispatches emphasize that the night raid problem has not yet been solved. But on recent moonlit nights the Havocs and Beauforts have exacted a toll of more than 5 per cent of the planes engaged in enormous raids on London, Liverpool, and other areas. This is definite progress, and the end of the moonlight raids may be in sight. America has a right to be proud of the Havoc for its contribution to Britain's defense and to be grateful for it as a product of its own defense program.

THE CLASS OF '41

Commencement orators soon will be doing their stuff. The thousands of young graduates of school and college will be listening to all manner of advice—some of it light, some of it heavy; some of it in line with youth's real opportunities, some of it well meant but impractical in so far as the world of actuality is concerned.

A good guess though is that the "Class of 1941" will survive all these rhetorical expressions and proceed to find vocations of social value and inner contentment. With all its difficult and unsolved problems, America remains a land in which the free spirit can assert itself, grant a reasonable amount of training, ambition, and the will to win.

These young graduates have not been subjected to academic suppression or scholastic dictation. The programs which they have completed have been conceived with a view to maximum intellectual liberty and individual creativeness. That is the American way, and it is reasonable to assume deep-seated appreciation of the blessings of freedom among these energetic, eager folk who are about to take their respective places amid the national scene.

The Treasury has no plan to obtain more than the proposed $3,500,000,000 of additional revenue. But if more comes in, it can be used.

to break from his grasp, whereupon the man grabbed the other girl by the neck. Her screams, however, caused him to release her.

Mrs. Kerr heard the scuffling from her second floor kindergarten classroom; but, authorities learned, she thought the commotion was being caused by children at play in the first-floor corridor.

A few moments later, according to police, Persichillo made his way to Mrs. Kerr's room and when asked by the teacher what he wanted he said he wished to know how to get to Newark.

As Mrs. Kerr walked toward the man to give him the directions he attacked her and knocked her to the hallway floor. The teacher got up and fled to another classroom, where she was struck in the mouth and thrown to the floor a second time.

According to police, Persichillo has a long criminal record. A few years ago he was arrested with another man while the pair was in possession of a revolver and gun and both were sent to State Prison. After serving several months Persichillo was transferred to the Railway Reformatory. He also has served time, it is said, in the Mercer County Jail, Schuylkill County Reformatory and other institutions for various offenses.

On Tuesday the House, by overwhelming vote, passed a bill raising the crop-loan rate from seventy-five to eighty-five per cent of parity on cotton, wheat, corn and tobacco. It went through the Senate the next day with only two votes in opposition. There is not even a suggestion that the President will veto it. The Administration leaders in the House all voted for it. And so they did in the Senate.

THERE has not been, and apparently will not be, so much as a finger raised by the President to prevent the passage of this bill. The fact that in the regular agriculture appropriation bill the conference committee is now expected to reduce the $450,000,000 inserted by the Senate, and subsequently protested by Mr. Morgenthau, makes no difference. The jump from seventy-five to eighty-five per cent in the Bankhead bill far more than makes that up to the farmer. Combined with the soil-conservation and other subsidies, that will give full parity, which has been the farm-lobby dream cherished for many years.

NO one can estimate the approximate cost of this to the Government, but it is agreed it will be far above the $450,000,000 which is to come out of the other bill. It may run to a truly fantastic amount. Naturally, the farm leaders are exultant, and resistance to them is, practically non-existent. It is an astounding state of affairs, because this bill, if finally made into law, will make Mr. Roosevelt's budget look silly. In addition, it will knock the bottom out of the OPM effort to keep down prices and will increase the cost of living ten per cent. The bill's sponsors optimistically say the increase will "probably not be more than five"; but no one believes that. They do not even believe it themselves.

WHAT is perfectly certain is that with the inevitable rise in the cost of living there will be inevitable pressure for a rise in wages and that the rise in wages and food prices will render abortive Mr. Leon Henderson's efforts to keep a ceiling over prices for manufactured goods. The net effect of this eighty-five per cent parity bill, which enables the farmer, using the 1928 price level as the base, to borrow practically full value of his crop from the Government, will be to contribute greatly to the danger of that upward inflationary spiral against which the Treasury, Mr. Henderson, Mr. Eccles, other Government officials and all economists warn.

NOBODY disputes this. And yet here is the President permitting, without protest, the enactment of a law which will wreck his own budget, nullify his price-control policy, make his proposed additional three-and-a-half-billion tax proposals grossly inadequate, increase the danger of inflation, render economy pleas ridiculous and cause his patriotic call for every body to make "sacrifices" seem a poor joke indeed. What is the explanation of White House inertia while so devastating a blow is dealt Administration policies? Why does the President not raise his voice and exert his strength to rally his friends against destructive action by the professional labor and farm leaders? Various explanations are suggested. The kindest is that Mr. Roosevelt, in trying personally to direct the defense effort in addition to his other duties, has taken on more than he—cr, for that matter, any man—can do, and that he is bogging down under the load. But in the matter of the great farm grab this does not relieve Congress of the charge that it has subordinated the national interests by supinely yielding to pressure in an emergency.

RED CROSS APPEALS TO BRISTOL WOMEN TO MAKE GARMENTS

Letter Received Stressing the Need For Various Articles

MAY SEW AT HOME

Material Can Be Obtained At Headquarters Or Work
Can Be Done There

A letter from Norman Davis, chairman of American National Red Cross, to the Bristol production chairman, Mrs. Archibald Morris, states, that the needs are greater than ever and that in spite of numerous handicaps shipments continue to go forward regularly.

"On the first of March, 3,201,181 garments had reached the Jersey City warehouse, but by the end of the month 3,168,217, practically all of them, had been shipped abroad."

The S. E. Penna, Chapter of which the Bristol Branch is a part has received a quota of thousands of garments which must be made: 3600 men's sweaters, 5200 women's sweaters, 24,000 children's sweaters, 2,000 mittens, 6,000 children's knitted suits, 200 shawls, 500 caps or "beanies", 2700 convalescent robes, 3,750 hospital pajamas, 1000 layettes, 659 women's cotton dresses, 9,216 girls' cotton dresses, 8,880 women's woolen skirts, 10,500 girls' woolen skirts, 9,750 women's woolen dresses, 13,500 girls' woolen dresses, 9,000 boys' shirts, 1,500 boys' overalls, 9,000 boys' shorts, 3,000 toddlers' packs, 500 bed shirts, 500 operating gowns.

From this great number of clothes needed it is plain to be seen that much more co-operation is imperative to help bombed and battered Britain. The women of Bristol, Croydon and Edgely have done nobly, but are asking other groups to come either to headquarters and sew, or to form small groups in their neighborhood, sewing in each others' homes, perhaps, two or three hours a week. The garments may be had at Red Cross rooms, 120 Mill street. A special toddler's pack is a recent request from abroad. They have stressed the need for clothing for infants and younger children. The layette, provides clothing for the baby up to nine months of age, and the Toddler Pack has been planned especially for the child from nine months to two years. The pack will contain the following articles:

1 sweater, 1 pair mittens, 1 "beanie" cap, 2 pairs rompers, 1 woolen snow suit, 2 part woolen undershirts, 2 sleeping garments, 10 diapers. Kindly telephone 2476 for further information.

were asked to contact their family physician for necessary examinations.

It was mentioned that some persons, particularly those who are over-weight, are more likely to have diabetes than people who are not. "The disease is more common among women than among men," was another point brought out. The ages between which most people are more likely to become victims of the disease were mentioned as 40 and 60. Dr. Henderson mentioned that doctors have found that diabetes runs in families, there being noted inheritance factors.

The control of the disease through diet, insulin and exercise, was stressed, with anyone suspecting themselves of having the disease being urged to see their physician at once.

Diabetic shock and diabetic coma were mentioned as two frequent results of severe cases of the disease. Dr. Henderson informed that physicians advise strongly against two diabetics marrying, as the inheriting of the disease by their children in such cases is almost a foregone conclusion.

As the Auxiliary members were gathered about the tables in the social hall, the president called upon Jacob C. Schmidt, a past commander of Bracken Post, for remarks. Mr. Schmidt stated that he represented the commander of Bracken Post, Henry Elmer; also the ninth district commander, Paul Sine, of Perkassie; and the liaison officer of the district, Ray Hemmerly, who were unable to attend. Closer co-operation between posts and auxiliaries was stressed by Mr. Schmidt, who urged better contacts between officials of the two organizations. "Today is the day we must be unified," he said.

The Rev. W. E. Preston Haas, pastor of Bristol Methodist Church, also stressed the need for co-operation in all organizations, with all members working for the good of the whole.

Miss Isabel Heath, a member of the local Junior Auxiliary, favored with vocal numbers, "That Dear Old Mother of Mine," and "Love's Old Sweet Song."

The council planned to conduct a picnic for 130 veterans from Coatesville Hospital, the affair to be held at Sunnybrook Farms, on June 4th.

To each of the 22 gold star mothers present, a white carnation was presented. Among the guests yesterday was Mrs. Margaret B. Simon, a member of Harold L. Buckley Post, No. 32, and also of the auxiliary of that post, in Longmont, Colorado. Mrs. Simon, who was the first national chairman of constitution and by-laws for the auxiliary, served as a nurse overseas during World War No. 1.

The Bracken Post Auxiliary members who served the tasty luncheon wore white dresses, red aprons, and blue caps. The table decorations were likened to Flander's Field, with rows of red poppies between tiny crosses. Norristown unit invited the group to that community for the June meeting.

Planes Clash in Battle Over Syria

London, May 16—British and German planes already have clashed over Syrian territory, it was understood today as the British Government authorizing RAF attacks on German bases in French-mandated Syria.

In addition, it was reported, RAF bombers have launched strong attacks on Syrian airdromes used by the Nazis—thus extending Europe's war to still another theatre of conflict.

Nevertheless, it was learned that despite these clashes and attacks the British government is maintaining consular representation in Syria, for the time being at least.

The free French news service carried reports from Cairo indicating that the Germans already have launched their occupation of Syria and that troops are entering the mandated territory with tanks and light war material.

ST. ANN'S WINS THIRD STRAIGHT LEAGUE GAME

Defeats Fleetwings Nine By the Score of 6 to 2

LEADING THE CIRCUIT

De Risi Again On the Mound and Does a Fine Job of Pitching

The "hitless wonders" of the Bristol Suburban League, the St. Ann's A. A. team won their third straight tilt last evening on their home field, beating the heretofore undefeated Fleetwings team, 6-2. The "Saints" are now leading the circuit, a full game ahead of their closest opponent.

In winning last evening, the Wood Streeters needed but three hits, making but 11 hits the team has made in the three games won. Heads-up baseball, good pitching and a strong defense again accounted for the St. Ann's victory.

For the third time this season, "Mike" DeRisi took up the pitching duties for the Pleomeen and again he turned in a fine job of hurling. After a wobbly first canto, he settled down to blank the Fleetwings from the remainder of the game, allowing but three hits in all and fanning seven batters.

Twice it appeared as if the airplane workers were going to get to DeRisi but on each occasion the attempt was thwarted. In the third, both Sallustio and Joe Dougherty drove out clean hits but Sallustio wandered too far off second and a quick toss, DeRisi to Cialla, retired him. In their final turn with the stick, Pica opened with a pass, Sallustio then drove one down third and a quick toss, DeRisi to Cialla, retired him. His throw to first to double Pica was low but Angelini dug it out of the dirt to complete the double-play.

St. Ann's clinched the tilt in the third when a hit batsmen and two walks loaded the bases. Peterpaul and Cialla scored on Palumbo's roller to first and Angelo counted on DeAngelo's hit to left field.

TETER OFFERS PRIZE OF $100 FOR NEW RECORD

Three of the fastest drivers ever to risk their necks around the tricky Langhorne Speedway curves are going to race at full throttle Sunday afternoon in their bid for an added award. Lucky Teter has posted for a new world's mile speedway record on the famous oval near here.

Bob Sall, former holder of the record and fastest racer in last Sunday's gala opening of Teter's track, heads the trio seeking the added $100 prize and their name on the $1,000 gold cup which will stand in Langhorne's "Hall of Fame."

Encouraged over possibilities of a new all-time record because of Sall's sensational time turned in last Sunday, Ted Horn and Joie Chitwood also have arranged for the record attempt during qualifying trials, which start at 12:30 noon. Sall, who once held the record at Langhorne with 102.9 miles per hour, was clocked within 12 of a second of Tony Wilman's existing mark of 103.4 miles per hour.

Sall, Horn and Chitwood wired Teter they would fly here by airplane Friday night from Indianapolis where they are attempting to qualify for the annual 500-mile Grand Prix Indianapolis classic. He won the title in the classic, Horn is favored to win this feature race in the Langhorne opener before a record crowd of 42,846 persons last Sunday.

As an added feature to the big league automobile races, Lucky Teter said he would deliberately wreck a speeding stock sedan in his sensational crash-land. This is the thrilling stunt in which Lucky remains at the wheel as he wrecks the car at a mile a minute.

won her first role in "Gone With the Wind."

"Cheers For Miss Bishop" is an outstanding motion picture for many reasons. It was brilliantly directed by Tay Garnett; it was given the superb showmanship and production lavishness which have always characterized the work of Richard Rowland.

BRISTOL THEATRE

The ever-popular Gene Autry has another smash hit in "Back In The Saddle," which opens today at the Bristol Theatre for a run of two days. In addition to amiable and capable Smiley Burnette, a strong supporting cast includes Jacqueline Wells, Edward Norris, Mary Lee, and Addison Richards. Lew Landers, who is responsible for many of the best action films, directed for associate producer Harry Grey.

The producer of "Secret Evidence" which comes to the Bristol Theatre for a two-day engagement beginning today is rapidly acquiring a strained back from taking bows for this sharp-eyed gentleman has brought to the film public's attention such stellar luminaries as Clark Gable, Paul Muni, Ann Harding and Constance Bennett.

"George Washington Slept Here" To Be Staged Soon

The Bucks County Playhouse, New Hope, will open its summer season on Friday evening, June 6th, instead of Saturday, June 7th, as previously announced, and will have as its first star Charles Butterworth, who will appear in "George Washington Slept Here," the locale of which is Bucks County. Mr. Butterworth, formerly known as a comedian on Broadway, has appeared in films during the past few seasons.

"George Washington Slept Here" will also be played on June 7th, and every evening the following week, with matinees on Wednesday, June 11th, and Saturday, June 14th. The comedy, which recently completed a run of 26 weeks on Broadway, deals with the adventures of a New York family who buy a dilapidated farm house in Bucks County, not far from York Road, and set about improving it. Mr. Butterworth will have the role played on Broadway by Ernest Truex.

Acting the leading role opposite Mr. Butterworth will be Mary Wickes, who will be released by the Messrs. Kaufman and Hart from her present role as the nurse in their current comedy success, "The Man Who Came to Dinner," in order that she may appear at New Hope.

"George Washington Slept Here" will be staged by Henry Ephron, assistant to George Kaufman, who acted as the stage manager of the piece during its Broadway run. This will be the first professional production of the play in Pennsylvania.

Faith Clarke's SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

Become thoroughly familiar with any shop you patronize. Acquaint yourself with all services offered, all advantages, the location of all departments. Make friends with the sales people. Watch your shopping enjoyment increase!

Now is the time for all good housewives to think of the summer refrigerating of foods. Have you the kind of box in which you take pride? If not and you want one of the most satisfying electric refrigerators money can buy, trip down to Snellenburg's and view their "Crosley" models. The Crosley has the wonderful patented Super-Shelvac arrangement which enables you to store twice as much food at the front! Another Crosley feature is "Moist Kold" for better food preservation. Fiber glass insulation. Grand! Seven sizes, $114.95 to $219.95.

Have you seen Snellenburg's popular "Marie Dressler" daytime dresses sized so that they will fit your exact figure? It's a splendid idea. Tall women's sizes 38½ to 52½; 37½ to 51½ for medium height. Sizes for little women 16½ to 24½ and 14½ to 26½. These dresses come in both rayon and cotton, priced from $3.98 to $5.98. A cotton group priced at $1.98 and $2.98 comes in half sizes for tall women and quarter sizes for short women. Many styles and colors and weaves. The $3.98 rayons are "Crown Tested" A find! Daytime Dress Dept., 2nd fl.

Nylon is indeed magic. Snellenburg's offer it in one of its latest guises—Nylon-strung tennis racquets! Nylon has amazing qualities for this purpose. The Sports Dept. will restring your own racquet for $1 or you may buy a regular $14 racquet (freshly Nylon-strung) for only $8.95! This is a very special reduction, for an actual Banerett "Winner"—if you know racquets! Whether you are a professional or a clever amateur you'll appreciate this opportunity. Nylon doesn't dry, fray, is moisture resistant, is resilient—almost indestructible!

Precious little Persian prints—really made in Persia, and in distinctly rarer designs than we usually see here—are to be had in Snellenburg's Art Needlework Dept. They come in all sizes suitable for summer or winter bureau and buffet and table scarfs, pillow tops, table squares, arm rests, knitting bags, summer purses, and the like. Though decidedly works of art, they are priced from a mere 12c to $2.75. Delightfully depicted upon them are all purpose canvas glove that are birds and figures, as well as flowers, arabesques, etc. The which the department is well weave itself is artistic. Nice gifts. known. Look-see!

Here's to a happy shopping trip through a store noted for "values". And do tell the sales folks about our column—yours and mine. Cheerio! "F. C."

SEVERAL LOCAL BOYS ENTERED IN DISTRICT P. I. A. TRACK TEST

Johnny Mulholland's Local Baseball Team Opens At Atlantic City

SOFTBALL HITS SKIDS

Other Sporting Notes Garnered From Arena And Field

By Jack Gill

The sun that begins to simmer as summer sets its searing lantern stronger is due to bronze several Cardinal winged footers at Upper Darby Saturday afternoon. The District P. I. A. A. meet gets underway at 10 o'clock in the morning and several records may go by the boards as the best of the suburban crop dig cinders in an effort to advance to the finals. Bristol has entered Bob Monti in the broad jump, Paul Ruby in the shot and javelin, Armando Capriotti in the pole vault and two teams in the 880 and mile relay events. Bernard Genco will run in the half mile.

Bensalem, a team that showed surprising form in last week's Lower Bucks tune-up, has given big Len Elyds a chance to compete against topnotch opposition. There were many fans who believed that the power driving Owl ace really had something in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. He handles himself like a true sprinter. He and Bob Scarborough, who will run in the hurdles, will see action Saturday.

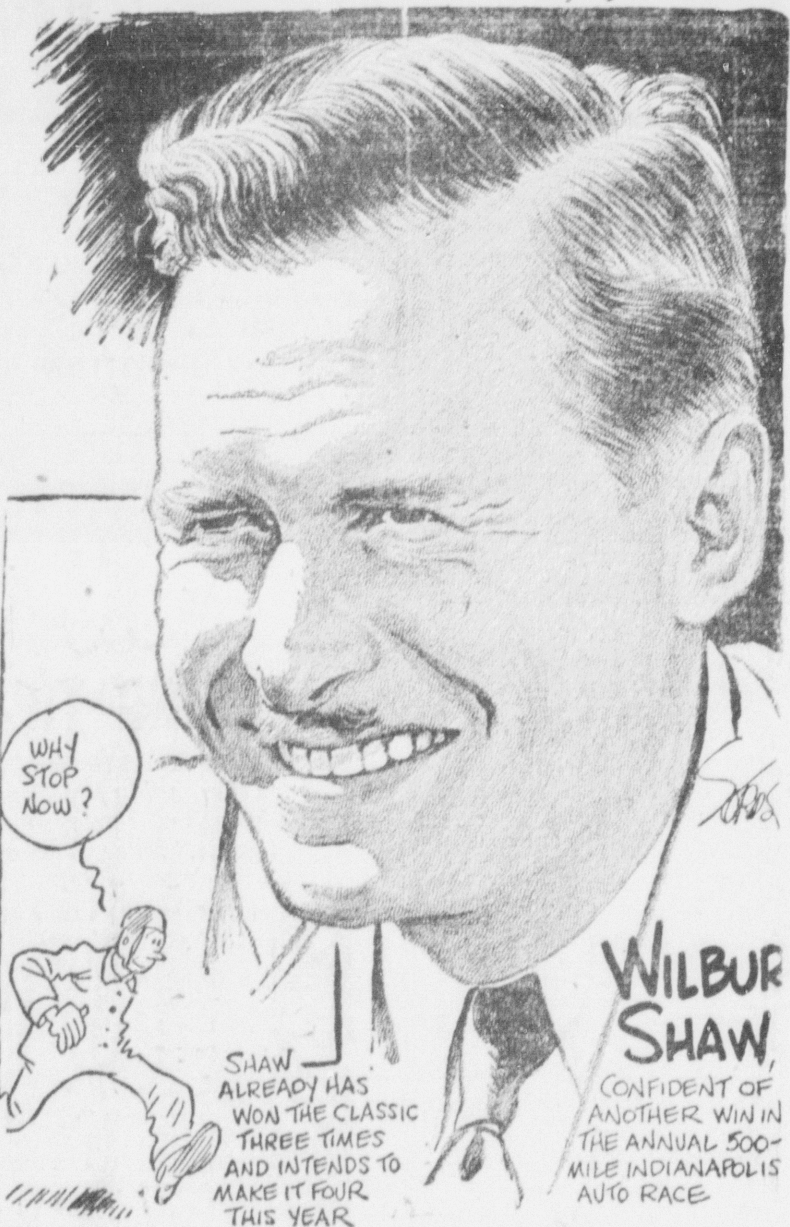

Johnny Mulholland, who rivals McPhail as a baseball enthusiast, is out once more to set the world on fire with his club. But if he fails in the stretch, his uniform will still "wow" the customers. They are of white material and are trimmed with red and blue stripes. On the sleeves is pictured an American flag. The Bristol nine opens up Sunday, at Atlantic City, with the following line-up: Carter, first base; Stallone, second base; Cooper, third base; and Oppman, shortstop. The outfield will have Harrison, Cahill and Hunter roaming around, while Vanzant will catch the slants of Puma and Linck. An effort is being made by Mulholland to obtain Landreth Field for the locals' home contests. "The team is young and has potentialities," says John.

Former Landreth stars have found a league in the Industrial loop at Trenton. . . . Veteran Howie Black is still tossing them up for the Prison Guards, while Vic Rockhill patrols an outfield spot. . . . Pitcher Bob Horton, the former Buckingham great, found minor league ball too tough and came home with the local yokels in the Doylestown Bucks County circuit. . . . The Trenton Senators meet the A's at Trenton on May 26. . . . The duellers are still chatting about Al MacDonald's 25 foot approach on the eighteenth at Langhorne. . . . This drop enabled the veteran Langhorne pro and his partner, Jimmy Thompson, to make drips out of Kirkwood and Ben Hogan.

Tom Campion, Bristol coach, felt the sting of Bill Soose's jabs while at Penn State. The Card mentor was and always has been a boxing enthusiast.

In fact, he intends to start intramurals if the students want them next year. He sparred with the middleweight who took a much discussed decision from Ken Overlin last week. It was the same Overlin who fought a draw at the Trenton Arena last winter over tottering Paulie Walker. At that time he didn't appear to have championship stuff.

The sectional race bugs, who hop and flitter like so many June bugs on a summer evening at the penetrating smell of castor oil up at the Langhorne gasoline alley, sat and marveled at the man and the mount last Sunday. Ted Horn, one of the steadiest riders in the game, never takes a chance. He warms his car up slowly and has it hopping by the time the feature rolls around. Once he slips through to a front spot, he's a hard number to catch. That white Miller of his has that deep throated roar symbolic of power.

It's back to hard ball after a couple years of murdering the "mush ball" around local ball orchards. The tang of the crack against bat didn't seem to be there for many. It's a good game with the bases moved up, the rules more lenient and the ball much larger. But it doesn't rate with baseball and never will overcome its popularity.

SAFETY PATROL TO ATTEND GAME

The Safety Guides and Patrol of the Tullytown School will be guests of the Keystone Auto Club at the baseball game between the Philadelphia Athletics and the Cleveland Indians, at Shibe Park, Tuesday the 20th.

RIGBY'S WILD PITCH

CAUSES TEAM'S DEFEAT

A wild pitch by Rigby caused the Badenhausen team to drop its fourth consecutive tilt in the Bristol Suburban League last evening on Turner's field as the Odd Fellows came through to climb from the cellar. It was the first triumph for the Oddies.

Rigby's wild heave, coming in the sixth frame, scored Ashby with what proved to be the winning marker. At the time, the score was deadlocked, 3-3. The Oddies' loaded the sacks after this but could not push across any more runs.

Both clubs had seven hits. "Milt" Jones was effective in the pinches and escaped danger in the third when the boiler-makers filled the bases.

"Jake" Paul had a perfect night at the plate, getting a double, triple and a pair of walks. Purcell continued his hitting by getting two out of three.

For the losing team, Tetterme made his debut by collecting two singles, after fanning on his first appearance at the plate.

Strawbridge & Clothier In Business 75 Years

PHILADELPHIA, May 16—Seventy-three years ago two young men who had served a business apprenticeship apart from each other, believed they possessed experience and qualities which could be developed together to their mutual advantage and in the interest of the public; so they formed a partnership and painted over the door base hits: Paul. Double play: Hibbs to the name Strawbridge & Clothier. Their purpose was, in their own words, to "gain and retain the confidence of the people." Their sons and successors have devoted their lives to maintaining this good will and confidence—and from that small beginning has grown the great institution which begins the celebration of its 73rd Anniversary on Saturday, May 17th.

There's a bit of sentiment back of the celebration, of course—inspired by the wish to perpetuate the principles of the founders—but the celebration takes practical form in the planning of a great Anniversary Sale, an occasion of real advantage to the store's customers. It is a widely-known annual demonstration of the store's ability to gather and distribute vast quantities of merchandise at attractive prices—and especially to make new friends and to make old friends better friends, by presenting hundreds of special opportunities for saving money during this sale. Hundreds of special purchases have been made and vast quantities of merchandise marked at substantially less than prevailing prices, and many of these will be found in every one of more than 125 departments, in the Philadelphia store and its branch stores in Ardmore and Jenkintown.
